Description:

From Attention Emily Windsnap fans: another daunting task is about to be tackled! Sea king Neptune has tapped the intrepid semi-mer and her friend Aaron to uncover the source of his recent night terrors. Terrible memories are knocking at his consciousness and unleashing harbingers of doom. Can Emily and Aaron reach the Land of the Midnight Sun? They might find some answers there connected with Neptune's long-lost evil twin, Njord, who is beginning to waken and carry out his dastardly plot to overrun the land with a tsunami. Emily's dry wit enlivens the nonstop adventure in Kessler's fifth waterworld fantasy series title. Grades 4-7. --Anne OMalley --This text refers to the edition.

Review I'm a big fan of this fun and feisty heroine, who returns for a fifth magical adventure. -- Fiona Noble BOOKSELLER A capable and strong young mermaid with a great sense of humour, Emily Windsnap is a delightful character. The magical descriptions of the undersea worlds are simply beautiful. The story, as with all the Emily Windsnap novels, is inventive, with interesting plots that keep you turning each page. NEWBOOKS MAGAZINE We love Emily Windsnap's magical mermaid adventures and this latest one is another enchanting tale that sparkles with magic. TBK MAGAZINE Mystery and magic, friendship, romance and adventure - winning combinations ... Imaginative and compelling, this is a great addition to the series. PARENTS IN TOUCH action packed and gripping BOOKBABBLERS both exciting and well written BOOKWITCH This magical book is beautifully written for children (and adults!) looking for a gripping and mysterious adventure tale ... Highly recommended. BOOKAPOET Great fun and wonderfully magical PEN AND PAPER A brilliant story LIVERPOOL ECHO This warm and magical story in the popular Emily Windsnap series is a spellbinding tale BOOKTRUST The writing is so good that adults will enjoy reading it to younger children THIS IS CORNWALL
